QSuper Selects Decimal for Scaled Advice

- Highlights Decimal's unique technology capability
- New innovative technology for QSuper

Decimal Software Limited ("DSX") is pleased announce that it has been selected by QSuper to commence implementation of the Decimal software platform for scaled advice to its members.

QSuper has over 530,000 members investing $51 billion and is Australia's third largest fund. They selected Decimal after searching the market to identify a platform that can provide members with the option for limited financial advice with real time process and compliance management.

Decimal was selected from a competitive tender process which demonstrates that it has the product, scale and capability to deliver it's innovative technology to organisations as significant as QSuper.

Decimal Executive Chairman Michael Sertorio said the company is delighted to be working with QSuper. "It is a significant validation of our capability that such an organisation has chosen us to provide enablement of this innovative service to their members."
